“WHEREAS, the months of March, April and May every year is commonly the harvest season of red onions in Bulalacao, Oriental Mindoro. Planting of red onions becomes priority to farmers after the harvest season of rice during the months of October and November;

“WHEREAS, large volume of red onions are being transported to different parts of the country such as Iloilo, Mindanao and Luzon regions that farmers of Bulalacao are inspired to plant more because of its high demand and fair market price;

"WHEREAS, prices of red onions in the market continue to decrease not because of high volume of local production but due to high importation of this commodity. The price of red onion last year remain at PhP40.00/kilo which has a big difference as of today which is PhP22.00/kilo;

"WHEREAS, the best intervention based on the recommendations of the Department of Agriculture is to stop the issuance of import permit from the National Plant Quarantine Services Division (NPQSD) to prevent the recurring decrease of red onions in the country; Now, therefore, be it
